McNamara emphatically denies charge and to Talmage Walton, clerk in Chief Kiely's office, who knows McNa-mara well, said: "The man is making a serious mistake. He never saw me before in his life, nor I him. I will be able to prove it." George Brennan of No. 801 Morgan street and John Mulroy, the other pris-oners who have been identified by Wehmeyer, are likewise emphatic in their statements that they had nothing to do with the robbery. Special Officer Hage-man of the Central District arrested the three men on descriptions of the robbers supplied by Wehmeyer.

New York, Jan. 4.—The dry goods market continues to show exceptional strength. Buyers have found considerable difficulty in securing deliveries at prices approaching previous figures. Notwithstanding high prices, however, huyers may find it necessary to purchase goods and this opinion appears to be gaining ground stendily. McNamara was recognized by his former acquaintances at the Four Courts as soon as he was brought in by Detective Hage as he was brought in by Detective Hage-man, and considerable surprise was mani-fested when it was announced that the former policeman was charged with high-way robbery.

McNamara was a golf instructor and was employed by several clubs at the links before he joined the police force, August 21, 1829. He appeared before the Board of Police Commissioners twice be-fore his discharge, on July 5, 1901, when he was accused of conduct unbecoming an officer.

Chief of Police Kiely knows McNamara and was astonished to learn of his arrest on such a charge.

"We cannot tell any more," said the Chief, "who we are going to get on these charges. I have contended all along that the majority of these robbers are amateurs and inexperienced men. Recent arrests have justified my assertions and if McNamara is found guilty I will not be surprised when my men bring in any person thereafter."

Wehmeyer is only 19 years old. Acting Chief of Detectives Keely says that he is satisfied with Wehmeyer's identification of the three prisoners, and he will do what he can to have them prosecuted. Chief Keely talked to the prisoners last night, but got no admissions from them.

They found the safe had been blown. Several desks were pried open, but it is not thought anything of value was secured.

The robbers gained entrance to the building by climoing a high fence in the rear and cutting two holes through a wooden door leading to the washroom. Charles H. Lanham of No. 445 Morgan street is president of the company.

This is the second time in the last two years that the safe has been blown. Harry J. Walker, a member of the firm, stated last night that not more than between $200 and $300 was kept in the safe.
